Forecast For Scotland
Issued by Met Office Aberdeen
at 0400 on Friday 26 Feb 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Mainly dry with sunny spells. Mild.

Today:
Any remaining rain soon clearing the Northern Isles. Then dry with some sunny spells, best in south and east. After a chillly start in places it will become pleasantly mild. Becoming rather windy in the far northwest.

Tonight:
Mainly dry evening with clear spells. Cloud and rain reaching the Hebrides later this evening will edge east across the mainland overnight though becoming mainly light. Northwest clearer by morning.

Saturday:
A damp start in the south and east then brightening up with some sunshine developing. Best of across the north. Mild with mostly light winds.

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
Fog patches clearing early Sunday then dry with more sunshine. Remaining settled with some pleasant sunshine into next week, but patchy fog and frost at night.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.